Duane,

John Plashal asked for a version of the materials that I sent along on 18 August at less than codeword level. The only difference between this version and the one you received previously is in references to the recipients.

These values are about [] below those provided in my note of 25 July 1988, in which we estimated the total worth of all material inside [] In each instance, the figures reflect the last price for items acquired as stock. [] difference between the July and August estimates is largely attributable to a sharp reduction in the unit price []
